

2022 JMSA Scholarship Recipients with Affiliations and Proposed Projects

Honjo-JMSA Scholarship

Charlotte Lee – Navigating the nuts and bolts of the US medical residency application process for trainees in Japan
Cardiology fellow at Columbia-New York Presbyterian Hospital

Erina Fujino – To promote JMSA and its mission using social media
Medical Student at University of North Carolina School of Medicine

Yukio Suzuki – Supporting Japanese cancer patients in the US and to promote cancer prevention awareness activities for Japanese community in the US
Postdoctoral research fellow at Division of Gynecologic Oncology, Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Columbia University

Kuro Murase MD-JMSA Scholarship

Nicholas Love – Investigating the history of dermatologic Japanese eponyms and systematically reviewing the dermatopathology underlying Japanese
Resident at University of California at Davis

Mitsui USA-JMSA Scholarship

Hiroataka Miyashita – Sharing experiences of current fellows through a medical blog and social networking services for a better understanding of the specialties and their training that are not prevalent in Japan
Resident at Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai Beth Israel

Atsumi Kimura – Creating a virtual meeting series for Japanese and Japanese Americans to discuss and share the feeling of anti-Asian discrimination in COVID-19 pandemic
Medical Student at Albert Einstein College of Medicine

Mizue Kishida – The effectiveness of hybrid on-site and off-site tele-simulation in pediatric resuscitation training for medical students
Simulation Fellow at The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia

Reona Kimura – To educate the Japanese American population about hypertension management and organize a blood pressure screening event
Research year between third and fourth year at Renaissance School of Medicine at Stony Brook University

Nippon Life-JMSA Scholarship

Hiroshi Otake – Developing the global platform to share the medical information using tele-medicine
Student at Master of Science in Clinical Informatics Management, School of Medicine, Stanford University

Masahiro Uni – Organizing workshops to share accurate knowledge about cancer and its prevention for Japanese residents in the US
Postdoctoral fellow at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center

Nishioka-JMSA Scholarship

Abe Razzak – Public outreach presentations/orientations for Japanese and Japanese American high school students on the medical field
Medical Student at Medical College of Wisconsin

Sana Fujimura – Implementation of music therapy programs for patients and hospital workers
Medical Student at Albert Einstein College of Medicine

Shiori Ucheya – Continue reaching out and providing a mentorship to Japanese/Japanese American students who are interested in the healthcare professions
Medical Student at Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine (GA Campus)

Raymond Sekiguchi MD-JMSA scholarship

Christopher Ikeda – Promoting the value of Osteopathic Manipulative Medicine for physicians and patients in the US
Medical Student at NYIT College of Osteopathic Medicine